Olivia Castillo stands at the security desk, badge clipped askew. The guard eyes her press credentials.

GUARD

We're not letting in reporters today.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

(YIELDING A HALF-SMILE)

I have an appointment with Malcolm Vance from Legal.

The guard doesn't budge. Behind Olivia, expensive shoes echo on marble.

DAICHI CALLAHAN steps up beside her, radiating quiet authority. He barely glances at Olivia as he flashes his own IDblack card, gold edge.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

She's with me.

A pausethen the guard nods them through. Olivia hides a flush of humiliation and falls into step beside Daichi Callahan as they head for the elevators.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

You didn't need to step in like that.

INT. ORION GLOBAL CORPORATION ELEVATOR CONTINUOUS

Tense silence as doors close. Daichi Callahan turns his gaze to the mirrored wall, avoiding eye contact.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

You weren't getting through on your own.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

(STERNLY)

I'd rather get thrown out than owe you favors.

He meets her eyes nowa flicker of challenge there.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Then next time, don't hesitate so long before asking for help.

INT. NEWSROOM LATER THAT DAY

Phones ring; screens flicker with breaking headlines. Brett Whitmore leans against Olivia's desk, coffee cup in handa gentle contrast to earlier intensity.

BRETT WHITMORE

Word is you caused a stir downtown this morning.

Olivia Castillo drops a thick folder onto her cluttered desknotes scrawled everywhere but little verified fact yet.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

"Stir" is generous for getting stonewalled at every door.

BRETT WHITMORE

Don't take it personallyit isn't just you Orion makes nervous.

He softens.

Let me see what I can find out off-record.

EXT. ALLEY BEHIND NIGHTCLUB "THE VAULT" EVENING

Rain taps puddles near neon trash bins; city noise hums distant but persistent. Olivia waits alone under an awning, flipping through notes by phone glowthe only woman here without backup or muscle.

A shadow moves behind her Daichi Callahan again, hands deep in pockets this time; there's tension between them neit her will name yet.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Following crumbs tonight?

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Only because someone keeps sweeping away footprints.

He studies hera quiet appraisal bordering on concern she can almost mistake for warning:

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Sometimes digging too deep cuts both ways.

She looks up sharply but he's already turning away down the alley shadows

Breathless beat: Brett Whitmore calls softly from around the corner,

BRETT WHITMORE (O. S.)

Liv? You alright?

EXT. ALLEY BEHIND NIGHTCLUB "THE VAULT" EVENING

Olivia blinks rain from her lashes, startled as Brett rounds the corner, umbrella in hand.

BRETT WHITMORE

(RELIEVED)
You had me worried therethought you'd vanished.

She tucks her notes into her jacket, eyes flicking back to where Daichi disappeared.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Just lost track of time. I'm fine.

Brett steps closer, offering the umbrella above both their headsa little too close for comfort under neon haze and dripping eaves.

BRETT WHITMORE

That alley's not exactly safe ground tonight.
Not with all these new faces out here snooping around Orion Global's accountsyours included.

She bristles at his concern masked as warning.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Are you following me now? Or just monitoring company assets?

He tries a smile but it wilts; sincerity leaks through the banter

BRETT WHITMORE

I'd rather keep you out of trouble than read about your body in tomorrow's newsfeed.
LookI heard something at the bar. People asking for a "nosy reporter."

A chill pricks Olivia's skinnot from rain this time. She glances down: muddy water seeps into her shoes, another humiliation on top of danger ignored by everyone else on this street.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

(SOTTO)
Does that usually end well?

He hesitates before replying:

BRETT WHITMORE

Depends who finds them firstthe story or someone worse.

INT. NEWSROOM OLIVIA'S DESK LATE NIGHT

The city hum fades behind glass as Olivia dumps soaked files onto her cluttered desk. Fluorescent lights are too bright after alleys and secrets; she winces at an incoming email notification: "Subject: URGENT - Source Meeting Confirmed."

Her phone buzzes againa number saved only as "CALLAHAN."

She debates answering; fingers hover over accept and decline alike before giving in.

DAICHI CALLAHAN (PHONE)

(VOICE LOW, CLIPPED)
Walk away from The Vault story.
Tonight was your last warningnext time there won't be one.

INT. NEWSROOM HALLWAY OUTSIDE OLIVIA'S OFFICE CONTINUOUS

Olivia stares at herself reflected in darkened window glasstorn between fear and resolve as footsteps echo behind her.

Brett appears with a coffee cup held like peace offering; he catches her unease instantly.

BRETT WHITMORE

You look like hell warmed over.
Want to talk about whatever Callahan just said?
Or have we reached classified territory already?

She manages half a smirkit doesn't reach tired eyesbut shakes him off gently:

OLIVIA CASTILLO

No offense, Brett but how do I know what side you're really on?
If things get uglywhich way do you run?

He looks wounded for a heartbeat before covering it with trademark warmth:

BRETT WHITMORE

I run toward trouble if you're caught in it.
But sometimes even heroes aren't fast enough.

Their hands brush when he passes the coffee an electric moment interrupted by newsroom lights flickering ominously overhead, and then dazed silence breaks as Olivia spots an anonymous envelope slid under her door marked simply:
"FOR YOUR EYES ONLY."

OLIVIA CASTILLO

You see anyone leave this?

BRETT WHITMORE

Just got here. You think it's

She slices through the paper before he finishes. A single photo slides out:
Daichi in conversation with a suited man outside Orion Global's side entrance.

That can't be good.

Olivia flips the photo over. Block letters: "WHO DO YOU TRUST?"

Her hand trembles; she shoves it away, jaw set.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Everyone plays gameswhy would tonight be different?

Brett hesitates, glancing between Olivia and the door as newsroom lights flicker again.

BRETT WHITMORE

This isn't just about you anymore. Whoever sent thatthey want you rattled. Or distracted from something bigger.

INT. ORION GLOBAL CORPORATION PARKING GARAGE LATER THAT NIGHT

Fluorescent bulbs hum overhead as Olivia ducks behind a pillar, clutching her phone in one fistthe envelope jammed into her jacket pocket.

A sleek car idles nearby; Daichi leans against its hoodexpression unreadable under shadowed light.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Running surveillance now? That's ambitious for someone so exposed tonight.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

(SNARLING QUIETLY)
Ambitious or desperateit works either way.
Who was your friend by the service door?
The one worth photographing?

Daichi considers her question for a long beat, gaze narrowing but voice calm:

DAICHI CALLAHAN

You came all this way to ask what you already know?
Maybe I'm not your story after all.

She steps closerdefiance masking fearbut he holds firm:

Turn back while you still have choices.
Or keep digging alone and watch doors close permanently.

EXT. CITY STREET OUTSIDE NEWSROOM LATE NIGHT

Rain spatters glass as Olivia stands beneath an awning dialing quickly on her cellvoice low but urgent when Brett picks up:

OLIVIA CASTILLO

She hesitates, eyeing the battered baseball bat by the coat rack.

A quiet knock startles her.

Olivia steps to the door, peering through the peephole.

Brett stands outside, hair damp with dew, concern etched deep.

She opens it just a crack.

BRETT WHITMORE

Did you really send your location to that number?
Please tell me you're not

OLIVIA CASTILLO

I'm not waiting for backup.

IF I BLINK NOW
they'll bury this story and me with it.

Brett pushes inside past her narrow protest.
He sees the photo atop the stack Vance's face circled in red ink.

BRETT WHITMORE

(SOFTLY)
You look wired enough to run through a wall.
At least let me drive?

OLIVIA CASTILLO

(STARING HIM DOWN)

Not tonight.

Daichi Callahan's eyes glint from within, expression unreadable.

INT. SEDAN (PARKED) CONTINUOUS

Daichi speaks without greeting as Olivia slides into the backseat;
Brett remains outside but hovers close enough to hear muffled words through glass.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

You shouldn't have answered that message. Now they'll test your resolveand mine.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Are these scare tactics yours or Vance's? Because after last nightI'm done being handled.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

(CONCISE)
Malcolm Vance plays his own games and he doesn't bluff twice.

He passes her a sealed envelope from beneath his coat sleeveno markings, heavy with implication.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

What is this?

13

Insurance? A warning?

DAICHI CALLAHAN

(CLIPPED)
Evidence. Names tied to Orion Global shell accounts.
Enough for leveragea little heat on Vance might buy time.

OUTSIDE THE CAR WINDOW: Brett paces anxiously, trying not to meet Daichi's gaze.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Why risk giving this to me?

DAICHI CALLAHAN

I don't like watching people get burned alive by other men's secrets.

Before Olivia can reply,
her phone buzzes yet again:

You don't have to go back out there if you don't want to.

His gaze lingers on her a fraction too long before he turns and strides away without another word.

Olivia exhales sharply, turning toward the exit

A pair of SECURITY GUARDS block her path with cold smiles and folded arms.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Olivia turnsher eyes challenge him, chin up despite trembling hands.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

A door scrapes open behind them Brett Whitmore steps into the blue-lit gloom, face flushed from running stairs two at a time.

BRETT WHITMORE

(URGENT)

You're both out of your minds meeting up here! Security was crawling all over the ground floorI barely slipped past them!

17

He takes in Olivia's tense stance and Daichi's inscrutable calm.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Did you get it?

BRETT WHITMORE

(LOWERS VOICE)

I got Abigail Langston's access badgea real one this time, not a copy. If we want proof on Vance or any dirt on tomorrow's gala this is our shot.

Daichi studies Brett: just long enough for tension to spark between them.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

That puts you on their radar now too. You understand what that means?

BRETT WHITMORE

(NODS; SOFTER)

I doand I'd rather be targeted right beside her than sit back while she walks into another trap alone.

Olivia pockets the badge with shaking fingers masked by bravado. She looks from Brett to Daichithe weight of reliance heavy but necessary now.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

So what isn't anyone telling me? Because if I walk into that gala blind

18

She fixes Daichi with a pointed stare; he doesn't flinch but his jaw tightens imperceptibly in the dark wind.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Vance isn't working alone anymore.
There are new faces circling Orion Global.
If you push too hard tomorrow... someone will make sure you disappear before sunrise.

He holds her gazea brief crackle of something personal beneath steel restraintbut then retreats again behind cold professionalism:

Let me handle Vance during the event.
Stay closeand don't trust anyone with an invitation list longer than three names.

Brett steps forward,

BRETT WHITMORE

Oryou could trust us both for once.

A heavy silence stretchesthe only sound is Olivia's foot tapping against cracked linoleum.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

You think hiding me here guarantees anything? You said we'd go in together tonight.

Daichi slides his gaze to her, unflinching.

DAICHI CALLAHAN

This isn't about guarantees.
It's about being alive to finish what you started.

Brett stops pacing, voice gentle but firm:

BRETT WHITMORE

He's rightjust for once, let someone else take the risk.
If Vance sees you before we're ready

OLIVIA CASTILLO

(INTERRUPTING)
Vance already knows I'm coming.
That's why he sent the threatsso I'd be scared off before I got close.
You want me sidelined? Say it outright.

Daichi steps forwarda touch too close, eyes sharpening:

20

DAICHI CALLAHAN

Malcolm Vance can smell fear and desperation.

Olivia holds his stare, jaw set with defiancebut there's an unmistakable tremor when she speaks next.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

A hush falls between themall three acutely aware they're being watched from several angles at once.

MOMENTS LATER AT THE BAR

Olivia edges up beside Malcolm Vance himself: crisp cologne tinged with danger fills the air between them. She forces calm into every syllable as he turnsa sly smile carving deep lines across his face.

MALCOLM VANCE

Ms. Castillo
To what do I owe this privilege so early in the evening?

22

She meets his gaze head-on,
voice low but steady:

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Just admirationfor people willing to gamble everything on secrecy.
And curiosity about how far they'll go if someone doesn't play along.

His eyes glint maliciouslythe tension knife-sharp now:

MALCOLM VANCE

Careful where that curiosity leads
Some invitations come with very permanent consequences.

MALCOLM VANCE
You'll find clarity isn't always pleasant, Ms Castillo. Especially when you go looking for it in the wrong company.

He glances at Daichi.

OLIVIA CASTILLO

Malcolm tilts his heada flash of annoyance breaks through the calm facade. He signals sharply; two guards move closer but Daichi steps between them and Olivia without hesitation.

But I'm not sure there's anything left they won't do now that you've gone public.
We need allies insideor leverage strong enough they don't dare move openly against us anymore.

BRETT WHITMORE
Daichi called once. He wouldn't say muchjust that things are "contained." Typical Callahan answer.

He glances at Emily before lowering his voice furt her for Olivia alone:

They questioned me downstairs about what happened in that alley. Police aren't buying self-defense anymorethey want names and details you can't give them yet.

Olivia tries to sit up straighter but falters; Brett gently steadies her elbow without fuss or pity.

OLIVIA CASTILLO
If they press charges

BRETT WHITMORE
They won't get to you here. Not while I'm around.

But if Daichi stays silent much longer

DAICHI CALLAHAN
That depends whose version you'd print tomorrow morning.

Tristan smirks uneasily but scribbles something into his notebook anyway.

TRISTAN ZHANG
Journalists never print whole stories these daysnot since Orion started redacting half our evidence files.

A shadow crosses Daichi's features; he ignores it and pushes past toward a stairwell exit.

Footsteps approach from the hall: deliberate, controlled Daichi enters without knocking, his suit collar damp from rain outside.
