EPISODE 1

TITLE: ABYSS OF DESIRE

EPISODE 1: THE BEGINNING OF THE STORM

INT. NOVACURE PHARMACEUTICALS – RESEARCH LAB - DAY

A high-tech lab filled with advanced equipment. SIENNA DRAKE (30s), brilliant and determined, studies data on a screen.

ASSISTANT (O.S.)
Dr. Drake, the new project requires your immediate presence at Oceanus Resort.

SIENNA
(sighs) Finally—time to get my hands dirty in the real world.

CUT TO:

EXT. OCEANUS RESORT – HELIPAD - SUNSET

The wind carries salt and luxury as Sienna steps off the helicopter onto the remote island resort surrounded by crystal-clear waters.

AKIRA KANE (28), casually handsome in his security uniform, strolls up with a warm smile.

AKIRA
You must be Dr. Sienna Drake! I’m Akira Kane — head of guest relations here.

Sienna extends her hand without hesitation; they shake firmly but briefly before she scans him critically from head to toe — then frowns slightly at his casual stance.

I expected someone more… professional for this role. Your credentials?

Akira’s smile falters just a bit but he remains composed, pulling out an ID card from his pocket and handing it over smoothly.

AKIRA

Former Navy SEAL sniper turned corporate security expert. But hey—don’t judge me yet; I’m here to make sure you’re safe while you do your research on our “weird ocean activity.”

BEFORE SIENNA CAN RESPOND—

DEREK GAO strides into view—a tall figure radiating cold authority in sleek black attire that screams control rather than hospitality—and immediately cuts through their interaction like ice breaking water tension between them both .

DEREK

(INTERRUPTING)

Drake… what exactly are you doing here? This isn’t part of your assigned projects under NovaCure protocols!

Sienna’s eyes narrow sharply toward Derek , her voice crisp as winter air cutting through firewood .

SIENNA

(TILTING CHIN SLIGHTLY)

Who appointed you gatekeeper? And why does it matter where I conduct legitimate research?

Derek tilts his head ever so slightly upward , clearly disapproving yet unwilling or unable to fully express himself aloud . He turns abruptly towards Akira instead , issuing orders like storm commands .

DEREK

(TO AKIRA)

Escort Ms.Drake back immediately . No exceptions until we clarify this nonsense with headquarters !

Akira stiffens visibly but quickly recovers , stepping protectively closer beside Sienna . His tone is firm now—not friendly anymore—it belongs somewhere between loyalty and defiance against an unjust superior .

AKIRA

(WITH QUIET STRENGTH)

Sorry sir...but Doctor has full clearance for independent fieldwork anywhere we own assets globally—including Oceanus Island Resort...

His gaze locks onto Derek ’s chest ; there’s no room left for argument or negotiation today .

Suddenly—an EXPLOSION rocks nearby buildings amid rising smoke clouds above them all !!

SMOKE AND DEBRIS FILL THE AIR AS CHAOS ERUPTS AROUND THEM !!

EPISODE 2

EXT. OCEANUS ISLAND RESORT - MAIN SQUARE – DAY

The explosion sends a shockwave through the air, debris scattering like deadly confetti. Guests scream and scatter in panic.

Sienna’s eyes widen for a split second—then she snaps into action, her instincts kicking in.

SIENNA

(SHOUTING)

Everyone! Move to the emergency shelters now!

Her voice cuts through the chaos like a siren. She grabs Akira’s arm tightly.

SIENNA (CONT'D)

We need to secure this area before more people get hurt!

Derek stares at her—his expression unreadable for just a moment before his jaw tightens and he barks orders.

DEREK

(URGENT)

Security teams—lock down all exits! No one leaves until we find out what caused that blast!

Guests rush past them, some stumbling over each other as they flee toward safety zones marked by bright flags. The sky darkens with thick smoke drifting from the damaged buildings nearby.

Akira instinctively moves beside Sienna, scanning their surroundings protectively while gripping her arm firmly—a silent promise of defense amidst disaster.

AKIRA

(LOW TONE)
Doctor… are you okay?

She nods sharply without hesitation—but when she turns back toward Derek , there’s fire burning behind those cool gray eyes .

SIENNA

(FLATLY)
This was no accident...

BEFORE ANYONE CAN REACT FURTHER—

A LOUD CRASH erupts nearby as another building collapses under unseen pressure . Dust clouds billow upward , choking everything around them ...

SMOKE AND DUST FILL THE AIR AS CHAOS ERUPTS AROUND THEM !!

EPISODE 3

DEREK

(SHOUTING OVER THE NOISE)
Sienna, evacuate now! This place isn’t safe anymore!

SIENNA

(FIRMLY, SHAKING HER HEAD)
I’m not leaving until I find out what’s behind this. Someone sabotaged this resort.

Before Derek can respond, a deafening explosion rocks the island again. The ground trembles violently as another building collapses in a shower of debris.

GUEST #1

(SCREAMING, PANICKED)
We need to get out of here—now!

The crowd surges forward in chaos. Amidst the turmoil, Akira grabs Sienna’s hand tightly and pulls her toward a narrow side path leading away from the main plaza.

AKIRA

(GRITTING HIS TEETH)
This way—move!

They sprint through twisting corridors lined with shattered glass and fallen beams. Smoke stings their eyes; every breath is heavy with dust.

Suddenly—a sharp CRACK echoes above them as part of the ceiling caves inward just steps ahead.

SIENNA

(PANICKING SLIGHTLY)
Watch out!

Akira yanks her sideways just in time—the collapsing rubble slams into empty space where they’d been moments before.

Breathing hard, they press against a wall hidden by shadows. Sienna leans heavily on him for support while he scans their surroundings warily.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(LOW GROWL)

Too many explosions... Something else must be going on here besides structural failure...

SIENNA

(EYES NARROWING THOUGHTFULLY)
Exactly my thought… these blasts weren’t random—they were triggered by something beneath us…

Their conversation halts abruptly when distant footsteps thunder closer from behind them—heavy boots pounding against cracked concrete floors accompanied by harsh voices shouting orders in rapid bursts:

VOICE #1 (O.S.)
Search every inch! They can’t escape—we have to capture that marine biologist at all costs!

VOICE #2 (O.S.)
She won’t make it off this island alive if we keep up these tactics! We need extraction now!

Sienna freezes instantly at hearing those words—her face draining color before she instinctively ducks further into shadow beside Akira .

AKIRA

(VOICE LOW BUT TENSE)
Enemy forces? How did they even know you’re here?

BEFORE SHE CAN ANSWER—

A ROAR explodes nearby followed immediately by another massive quake shaking loose more debris around them .

The two stagger back against each other , momentarily stunned .

When silence falls once more —they exchange one brief glance filled with unspoken understanding :

SOMETHING TERRIBLE IS HAPPENING HERE … AND WE’RE NOT ALONE ANYMORE !

EPISODE 4

The footsteps grow louder, closing in fast. Sienna and Akira exchange a quick glance before bolting into the nearest corridor.

SIENNA

(GRITTING HER TEETH)
We need to find another way out—now!

AKIRA

(NODS SHARPLY)
Split up. I’ll lead them away.

Before she can protest, he shoves a small knife into her hand—a sleek black blade with an unfamiliar symbol etched onto the hilt—and pulls her close for one last look.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(FIRM BUT SOFT)
Trust me. Don’t stop running until you’re safe.

Without waiting for a response, he turns on his heel and charges back toward the approaching voices.

Sienna hesitates just a moment longer before darting off in the opposite direction, clutching the knife tightly as adrenaline propels her forward through broken hallways and shattered glass windows.

VOICE #1 (O.S.)

(URGENTLY COMMANDING)
Spread out! She can’t have gone far!

As they fan out deeper into the ruins of Oceanus Resort’s abandoned wing—their flashlights cutting through thick dust clouds—they fail to notice faint footprints trailing behind them: two shadowy figures moving silently in perfect synchronization…

Suddenly—the sound of heavy boots pounding against cracked concrete floors echoes from somewhere behind them .

They freeze instantly at hearing those words—their faces draining color before instinctively ducking further into shadow beside each other .

AKIRA

(LOW BUT TENSE)

EPISODE 5

The ground trembles again, sending a cascade of rubble crashing down around them. Dust fills the air, making it hard to breathe.

Sienna instinctively raises her arm to shield her face, but when the shaking subsides, she finds herself pressed tightly against Akira in the cramped shadows of a broken wall.

She glances up at him—her breath hitching slightly from their close proximity.

SIENNA

(SOFTLY)
We’re going to die here if this place keeps collapsing...

Before she can finish, another quake hits. This time harder. The ancient structure groans and creaks as stones begin to fall like rain.

AKIRA

(FIRMLY)
Stay low! Move with me!

He grabs her wrist and pulls her through a narrow gap between two fallen pillars. Their bodies brush repeatedly as they stumble forward—his grip steady on hers despite the chaos around them.

Suddenly—a deafening crack splits the air. A massive beam snaps overhead, tilting dangerously toward them.

AKIRA’S EYES WIDEN IN HORROR—

But before he can react—the beam crashes down just inches behind Sienna with an earth-shattering impact that sends shockwaves through both their bodies .

They collapse together onto the shattered floor beneath it , breathing heavily —faces flushed —clothes disheveled .

For a long moment neither moves . Then slowly … Sienna lifts her gaze and meets his eyes .

Their breaths mingle in silence —charged … unspoken …

Then without warning , she leans up—and presses her lips firmly against his .

Akira freezes for half a beat before instinct takes over : His arms wrap tightly around hers , pulling them closer still . Their mouths move urgently against each other ; hands roam feverishly across backs and shoulders … until finally—they break apart—chests rising and falling rapidly …

SIENNA (CONT'D)

(BREATHLESS)

I THINK WE SHOULD GET OUT OF HERE…

Without hesitation , she reaches for his hand once more…and begins dragging him forward into darkness …

EPISODE 6

The darkness swallows them as they stumble through the narrow passage. Sienna’s grip on Akira’s hand is tight, unwavering.

SIENNA

(PANTING)

We need to find an exit. This place could collapse any second.

(NODS, CATCHING HIS BREATH)
Agreed. But stay close—I'll protect you.

Their bodies brush again in the cramped space, heat radiating between them. Suddenly—a sharp crack echoes from above.

Sienna freezes mid-step, eyes widening in alarm.

SIENNA

(URGENT)
That sounded like another beam giving way!

Before she can finish, a shower of debris rains down around them. Akira instinctively shields her with his body—grit and dust coat their skin as rubble settles at their feet.

They remain locked together in silence for a beat longer than necessary before Sienna suddenly shoves him hard against the wall of the tunnel—

Her lips crashing onto his once more with fierce urgency .

Akira groans softly , fingers tangling into her hair as he pulls her even closer . Their kiss deepens , desperate and consuming —until finally … they break apart , gasping for air …

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(BREATHLESS)

WE REALLY NEED TO GET OUT OF HERE…

14

He grabs her hand again without hesitation—and this time it’s him leading forward .

EPISODE 7

INT. ANCIENT TUNNEL – CONTINUOUS

Akira leads Sienna through the winding, crumbling passageway. Their hands remain locked tightly.

SIENNA

(URGENT)
Are you sure this is the way out?

AKIRA

(FIRM)
Trust me.

SUDDENLY — a deafening roar shakes the tunnel. Dust and debris cascade from above.

Both freeze in terror as another section of wall collapses behind them—blocking their path with a cloud of choking dust.

The air grows thick with tension—and fear—as they realize they’re trapped.

SIENNA

(PANICKED)
We can’t turn back… What do we do now?!

Before Akira can respond, a sharp CRACK echoes overhead. The remaining beams groan under pressure—their collapse imminent.

15

Without hesitation, Akira pulls Sienna into his arms again—urgently searching for an escape route in her eyes before he lifts her off the ground and sprints forward without looking back—

The camera lingers on their intertwined fingers as they move deeper into darkness…

Suddenly—a faint light flickers ahead.

Akira halts instantly, setting Sienna down gently beside him. He steps forward to inspect it—a small opening between two rocks leaking pale moonlight from outside.

AKIRA

(RELIEVED)

Look—it’s an exit!

Sienna exhales shakily but smiles softly at him—her gaze lingering just a moment longer than necessary before she turns toward freedom…

And walks straight past him without saying another word.

EXT. ISLAND SHORELINE – NIGHT

A gentle breeze brushes against her hair as she steps onto soft sand—the sound of waves crashing nearby filling the silence around them.Suddenly —a familiar voice calls out behind her:

DEREK (O.S.)

(YELLING)

Drake! You okay? Where are you?!

16

Sienna freezes mid-step, then slowly turns back toward where Derek stands near some bushes by the shore.He’s holding his phone up high , scanning every inch of darkness —his expression growing more desperate with each passing second .

SIENNA

(COLDLY)

What took so long?

Derek lowers his phone , stepping closer to wrap an arm around her waist and pull her close .His breath tickles against her ear —

DEREK

(SINCERE)

Sorry... I was worried sick about you.I’m never letting anything happen to you again,no matter what anyone says...

He tucks one hand firmly beneath hers around his waist,and leans down—pressing a deep kiss onto those lips once more.She responds instinctively —their bodies melting together beneath fading moonlight …

After breaking apart,Sienna looks up at Derek with soft determination—

SIENNA

(RESOLUTE)

I know.You’ll always be there for me.But right now…I need space—to figure things out on my own.That includes who I really want by my side.And that person might not be who either one of us expects...

17

Her words hang heavy between them.As she takes one last step away,Derek watches silently—with barely concealed heartbreak—instead turning abruptly toward where dark shapes lurk among trees further inland …

END OF EPISODE 7

EPISODE 8

DEREK

(URGENTLY)

Sienna, wait!

But she doesn’t stop. Her heels click sharply against the pavement as she strides away from him, away from the shore, and into the night.

Derek’s phone suddenly buzzes again. He snatches it up—his face draining of color.

ON SCREEN: A message with a location pin and a chilling note: “You’re next.”

His eyes snap back to Sienna’s retreating figure.

DEREK

(ALMOST WHISPERING)

NO… THIS CAN’T BE REAL…

He breaks into a run after her, heart pounding—not just for her safety anymore, but for his own.

CUT TO:

INT. ISLAND RESORT LOBBY – NIGHT

The doors crash open. Sienna spins around at Derek’s sudden appearance beside her—breathless and wild-eyed.

SIENNA

(SURPRISED)

What now?

Before he can answer, the lights flicker violently—and plunge into darkness.

GUEST 1 (O.S.)

(PANICKED)

What was that?!

A low rumble shakes the floor beneath them—the sound of something massive moving outside. The windows tremble in their frames as shadows shift beyond the glass walls.

Sienna grabs Derek’s arm instinctively—

SIENNA

(FIRM)

We need to get everyone out. Now!

She pushes him toward the emergency exit while guests scramble behind them in chaos—but when they reach the door…

It won’t budge.

19

(STRUGGLING WITH THE HANDLE)

It’s locked… someone sabotaged it!

SIENNA

(URGENTLY SCANNING)

Find another way—windows, back door, anything!

A guest points shakily toward a side corridor.

GUEST 2 (O.S.)
That way! Emergency service exit—it leads to the cliffs. It’s risky but—

Before she can finish, a deafening crash shakes the building again. Dust and debris fall from the ceiling as shadows flicker through shattered windows.

Sienna instinctively shields her eyes—then freezes as movement catches her attention outside: massive tentacles thrashing against the glass walls of the lobby.

Her breath hitsched in terror.

(HORRIFIED)

Oh my god… that thing is trying to break in!

DEREK

(GRITTING HIS TEETH)

Everyone, move! This isn’t safe anymore—get out now!

20

The crowd panics further, surging toward whichever exits they can find. Sienna glances at Derek for direction—they lock eyes for a split second before breaking into full sprint down the hallway leading away from reception.

CUT TO:

INT. RESORT HALLWAY – NIGHT

Their footsteps pound against marble floors as distant thunder rumbles overhead. The emergency lights flicker weakly—but no sign of escape yet.

Suddenly—a sharp snap echoes behind them. Both freeze mid-stride and turn—

Through broken windows along one side of the corridor, dark water pours inward like an unstoppable tide.

EP 10

INT. RESORT HALLWAY – NIGHT

Sienna and Derek exchange a quick, tense glance before bolting in the opposite direction.

SIENNA

(PANICKED)

This way! There has to be another exit!

21

Their heels echo off the marble as they dart down a side corridor—only to slam into a locked door.

DEREK

(SLAMMING HIS SHOULDER AGAINST IT)

Locked?! Are you kidding me?

The water surges closer through the broken windows, creeping onto the floor with chilling speed. Derek’s eyes flicker to Sienna.

DEREK (CONT'D)

(FRANTIC)

We need to find another way out—NOW!

Sienna spins on her heel toward an emergency stairwell at the end of the hallway.

SIENNA

(POINTING URGENTLY)

There! That stairwell leads straight up to roof access!

They race forward—but just as they reach for the door handle, a monstrous tentacle crashes through one of the shattered windows behind them. The crowd screams in terror—some break into full sprint, others trip and fall amid chaos.

Sienna freezes for half a second—the tentacle swings again—

Before she can react, it wraps around her waist with brutal force and lifts her off her feet. Her breath catches in shock; she claws at its slick surface but slips helplessly upward.

Her fingers brush against Derek’s arm—

Then everything goes black as she’s dragged back outside.

CUT TO:

EXT. RESORT LOBBY – NIGHT

The storm roars overhead; lightning splits across dark clouds. The lobby is flooded now—water swirling around shattered glass and overturned furniture like liquid ice.

A massive creature looms just beyond where Sienna was taken—a grotesque silhouette framed by thunderlight: bulging eyes atop its head… rows of jagged teeth visible beneath rippling flesh… endless writhing tentacles curling toward every cracked window frame…

It lets out a guttural roar that shakes bones—and then lunges forward again without warning.

EPISODE 11

INT. RESORT LOBBY – NIGHT

The monstrous tentacle tightens its grip on Sienna, lifting her higher into the stormy night air.

DEREK

(SHOUTING IN HORROR)

23

Sienna—!

He lunges forward instinctively, but the water surges between them like a living barrier. The creature’s other arm swings back and forth with terrifying speed, knocking him off balance.

Derek stumbles and falls to his knees as the tide pulls him under.

His outstretched hand grazes Sienna’s wrist for a split second—then she slips beyond reach.

A guttural roar echoes through the storm. The beast retracts its grasp abruptly, disappearing into the darkness with Sienna still in tow.

Derek collapses fully onto one knee, water swirling around him as he chokes and gasps for breath. His eyes lock upward toward where she vanished—and rage floods his expression.

DEREK (CONT'D)

(VOICE LOW, FURIOUS)

I will find you... no matter what it takes!

CUT TO:

EXT. RESORT – NIGHT

The wind howls violently across the open grounds of Whispering Cove Resort. Rain pelts downward in sheets as thunder cracks overhead again and again. Lightning briefly illuminates jagged rocks jutting from black waters surrounding the island like teeth beneath shadowed waves.

24

But there’s no sign of movement anywhere else — only silence left behind by that terrible presence now gone from sight.

END OF EPISODE 11

EPISODE 12

EXT. CLIFF EDGE – NIGHT

Derek stumbles through the storm, rain soaking him to the bone. His breath comes in ragged gasps as he reaches a jagged cliff edge overlooking the dark sea below.

His eyes scan wildly, desperate.

DEREK

(SHOUTING INTO THE WIND)
Sienna! Where are you?!

The waves crash violently against the rocks far below, lightning illuminating their fury for brief seconds before plunging back into darkness.

Suddenly—movement.

A faint flicker of light shifts just beyond his line of sight. Derek’s heart leaps.

He spins toward it and bolts forward without hesitation—his shoes slipping on wet stone as he runs blindly through dense underbrush and tangled vines.

The flashlight beam cuts erratically through thick fog and driving rain until finally—

EXT. BEACH – NIGHT

He bursts out onto a narrow strip of sand that hugs the shoreline like a forgotten ribbon. The wind slaps at his clothes; thunder rumbles low overhead—but there's no sign of Sienna anywhere.

Only silence left behind by that terrible presence now gone from sight.

EPISODE 13

EXT. BEACH – NIGHT

Derek stands motionless, chest heaving, scanning the darkness. The storm rages around him—rain pelting like needles, wind howling through the trees.

Suddenly—a faint cry cuts through the noise.

SIENNA (O.S.)
Help…!

His head snaps toward the sound. Without hesitation, he rushes forward again.

The flashlight beam swings wildly as he pushes deeper into the jungle bordering the beach. Branches claw at his face and arms; every step is a struggle against tangled undergrowth.

Then—he stumbles into an open clearing near a small dock where several boats are moored in shadows.

His light catches movement on one of them—Sienna's figure slumped low against a crate.

HE YELLS HER NAME AGAIN—

DEREK

(SHOUTING)

Sienna! I found you!

But before she can respond—the ground beneath their feet trembles violently.

A deafening roar explodes from behind them—a monstrous shriek that shakes every nerve in their bodies and sends birds screeching skyward from nearby treetops.

THEY SPIN AROUND TOGETHER TO SEE:

THE CREATURE HAS RETURNED

Its massive form rises out of the water with terrifying speed, breaking through waves like liquid stone. Its eyes blaze red in moonlight as it lunges toward them without hesitation.

EPISODE 14

The creature’s massive claw swings down, smashing the boat into splinters. Sienna scrambles backward, her eyes wide with terror.

SIENNA

(SCREAMING)

Derek—run!

Before Derek can react, the beast lunges again. He grabs Sienna’s wrist instinctively and yanks her toward shore.

27

They crash through underbrush, branches tearing at their clothes and skin as they stumble blindly away from the roaring water behind them.

Sienna gasps for breath, collapsing against a tree trunk. Her hands clutch at her bleeding arm where sharp bark had ripped through fabric and flesh.

DEREK

(BREATHLESS)

You okay?

SIENNA

(SHAKING HER HEAD WEAKLY)

No… I’m not okay! That thing—it knows exactly how to hunt us!

Her voice trembles with panic as she looks back over his shoulder toward the shoreline—the creature is still there, its monstrous form silhouetted against crashing waves as it roars in fury before retreating into darkness.

Sienna shudders violently but then suddenly straightens up—eyes flashing with determination despite exhaustion and pain. She meets Derek’s gaze squarely.

SIENNA (CONT'D)

(STEADFAST RESOLVE)

We need to get off this island. Now. Before it figures out we’re running scared—and comes back for us both together…

Her words hit him like a cold wave of reality breaking over his chest—he forces himself upright without hesitation.

DEREK

(GRIM DETERMINATION)

AGREED…

He turns sharply on his heel—but almost immediately freezes in place when something catches his eye just beyond where they stand—a faint glimmer of movement between two trees about fifty feet ahead.

His heart skips a beat.

FROM THAT SHADOWED GAP STEPS—

AKIRA KANE

In one fluid motion—from nowhere—the gun appears in Akira's hand.

BANG!

The shot echoes through the night air like thunder—and every nerve inside Derek jolts awake all at once.
Akira doesn’t hesitate for even a second longer: he rushes forward to meet them halfway.

AKIRA

(CALM AUTHORITY)
Drake! Gao! You’re safe now!

Without waiting for permission or explanation—he reaches out firmly around each of their shoulders simultaneously

29

And begins leading them swiftly back toward camp.

But neither of them notices what remains hidden just beyond those same trees—not far behind Akira—as they disappear deeper into shadow...

THE CREATURE IS STILL WATCHING THEM.
Its glowing red eyes never move away from their backs—even after they vanish completely from sight.
A low growl rumbles deep within its throat…

AS THOUGH PROMISING:
This game isn’t over yet.

END OF EPISODE 14

EPISODE 15

INT. CAMP SITE - NIGHT

The camp is dimly lit, shadows flickering as the wind whispers through the trees. Akira leads Sienna and Derek deeper into the forest.

AKIRA
(QUIETLY)
We need to get you both checked out immediately.

SIENNA
(struggling to keep up, voice sharp)
Who are you? And why show up just now?

Akira glances back at her, his expression unreadable for a moment before he responds smoothly.

AKIRA
I’m Akira Kane. I run security here—and I’ve been tracking that creature since it first appeared offshore.

DEREK
(SURPRISED)
You knew about it?

Akira nods once, firmly.

AKIRA
Of course. This island’s my responsibility—every inch of it. And every threat against it is my concern.

Sienna studies him closely for a beat—then her eyes narrow slightly in suspicion.

SIENNA
So… what exactly do you want from us?

Before Akira can answer, a sudden rustle cuts through the silence—a sharp noise from behind them in the darkness. Everyone freezes instantly, instinctively turning toward the sound—

But nothing moves anymore beyond those trees.

SILENCE again.

Derek exhales shakily and drops down onto one of their logs nearby without looking away from where they came from.
His fingers tremble slightly as he pulls out his phone — tapping on messages between him and Julian:

31

JULIAN (V.O.)
This thing's gonna ruin our opening! Get rid of her!

He stares at those words for too long — anger flaring quietly beneath his skin.

Suddenly—he stands with purpose.

DEREK

(FIRM)
Enough hiding behind shadows and excuses! Who actually sent you here?!

Akira pauses mid-step—but doesn’t stop walking forward.
His tone remains calm but unyielding.
Almost like he already expected this challenge…

AKIRA

(LOW)
It was me who brought NovaCure Pharmaceuticals’ representatives here—to secure an exclusive partnership with this resort...

And whoever issued that message will pay dearly for underestimating me.

Sienna steps forward beside Derek suddenly—their voices overlapping in shocked disbelief:

SIENNA & DEREK What?!

EPISODE 16

EPISODE 16

Sienna’s face drains of color. She stumbles back, nearly losing her balance.

SIENNA

(VOICE BARELY A WHISPER)
You… you’re the CEO of NovaCure?

Derek’s jaw tightens. His eyes lock on Akira—cold, calculating.

DEREK

(FLATLY)
I thought you were just some low-level lackey sent to stir up trouble.

Akira smirks slightly and steps closer to them both, his presence commanding yet calm.

AKIRA

(LOW, DELIBERATE)
If I wanted to harm either of you... it would’ve happened already. But now that we’re all here—I’m willing to offer something far more valuable than revenge: an opportunity.

Sienna narrows her eyes suspiciously but says nothing. Derek crosses his arms tightly in front of him, clearly unwilling to trust Akira at this moment.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(TURNING TOWARD SIENNA)
Dr. Drake—I know your research is groundbreaking. The oceanic biomes around this island are unlike anything else on Earth…

33

He pauses for effect before looking directly into her eyes with intensity.

AKIRA (CONT'D)
I want NovaCure Pharmaceuticals—with your expertise—to lead the next wave of marine pharmaceutical development right here at Seabreeze Island Resort.
His words hang in the air like a tantalizing promise—a chance for glory beyond what she ever imagined...

But then—his gaze shifts coldly toward Derek as he continues:

AKIRA (CONT'D)
As for you… security director Gao—you've been protecting me far too long without question.
He steps forward and places one hand firmly on Derek's shoulder—the other slides smoothly over his arm as if claiming ownership.
The gesture is both intimate and possessive—and infuriating beyond reason.

DEREK (GRITTING TEETH)
What are you doing?!

Before anyone can react further—the sound of heavy footsteps echoes from behind them.
They turn simultaneously—and freeze in shock.

MARINE CREATURE #2 stands just outside the doorframe—its grotesque form illuminated by moonlight spilling through the windows.

EP 17

Sienna, Derek, and Akira all turn toward the creature. Panic flashes in their eyes.

DEREK
(SHOUTING)
Everyone—get down!

The three dive for cover as the creature lunges forward with a guttural roar. Its massive claws swipe through the air—one slams into the table where Sienna's research files were scattered. Papers explode everywhere.

The other arm swings toward Akira—but before it can strike, a sharp metallic clang rings out.

A steel door suddenly crashes open behind them. A squad of security guards bursts in—guns raised without hesitation.

GUARD TEAM LEADER (O.S.)
Open fire! Take it down!

Gunshots echo through the room—the marine creature howls in agony as bullets pepper its body. It staggers back, then collapses to the floor with a final shuddered breath.

Silence falls over everyone except heavy breathing and distant thunder rumbling outside.

Sienna slowly rises from her crouch—and immediately rushes to inspect one of her scattered research files on the ground nearby. Her fingers tremble slightly as she picks up a paper covered in complex data charts and handwritten notes... but there’s something off about it...

Her brow furrows deeply—the signature at bottom right corner is unfamiliar… not hers…

SIENNA (V.O.)
This isn’t my handwriting… someone forged my research?

She whirls around sharply—with mounting dread—to face Akira who stands beside Derek, expression unreadable under shadowy moonlight streaming through windows.

AKIRA

(SMIRKING COLDLY)
Impressive work… Doctor Drake... but I’m afraid your precious findings won’t be going anywhere anymore...

Before anyone can react—a sudden slow-motion scene unfolds—

Akira reaches into his coat pocket—and pulls out another file folder wrapped tightly with rubber bands—

He holds it up deliberately between finger and thumb…

His lips curl into an arrogant smirk…

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(SOFT YET VENOMOUS)

Because we’ve already secured every single piece of your “groundbreaking” research documents—including this one...

And he snaps his fingers sharply at Derek Gao standing next to him—

ALMOST INSTANTLY—

36

Two guards step forward carrying large black briefcases each clutched firmly by both hands like sacred relics…

Akira turns fully towards Sienna now, his gaze burning icy fire onto her soul,

AS HE DELIVERS HIS FINAL BLOW:

AKIRA (CONT'D)

Drake—you’re coming back with us—to sign that contract you never should have refused.
Close-up: Sienna’s pupils constrict violently—her entire body stiffens like stone frozen mid-command.

Sienna’s eyes blaze with fury, her voice cutting through the tension like a razor.

SIENNA

(ICY, RESOLUTE)
You’ve forged my research? You’ve stolen my work? That makes you nothing more than a common thief and fraud!

She steps forward, pointing at Akira with trembling intensity.

SIENNA (CONT'D)
And now you’re trying to trap me into signing a contract under false pretenses. I will never agree to that—never!

37

Akira tilts his head slightly, amusement flickering in his eyes as he leans closer.

AKIRA

(SMIRKING)

Drake… if it weren’t for your brilliant mind, none of this would even exist. Don’t forget who made your success possible.

He gestures toward Derek Gao standing beside him—a man whose very presence radiates authority and control over the island’s security operations.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

This is your new home now. Under our protection. And soon enough… under our terms.

Sienna narrows her eyes at Derek, her tone sharp and unyielding.

SIENNA

(FIRMLY)

Derek Gao—I’m not here by choice. This island belongs to Mr. Kane’s family anyway…

Her gaze shifts back to Akira—the man she once trusted but now despises deeply.

(DETERMINED)

And as for you? I’ll do whatever it takes to expose every lie you’ve spun around me—and stop this madness before it goes any further!

Without hesitation, Sienna turns on her heel and strides purposefully toward the villa entrance—her heels clicking sharply against the marble floor as she disappears inside without looking back once .

Akira watches her retreating figure with cold calculation , then finally breaks into a slow , predatory smile .

AKIRA

(LOW , DELIBERATE)

Letting someone like Drake slip away isn’t an option . She’ll sign eventually —because deep down , she knows what we created together was meant for something greater .

His gaze lingers on the horizon beyond the windows where storm clouds gather ominously overhead .

AKIRA (V.O.)

(MUSING SILENTLY)

Once everything is settled … that creature still lurking out there might just be another opportunity waiting to be seized…

The doors close behind Sienna with finality . Outside , thunder rumbles across darkening skies —and somewhere beneath those restless waves … something ancient stirs again .

INT. LUXURY HOTEL VILLA - DAY

Sienna stands by the window, gazing out at the stormy horizon. The wind howls outside as raindrops begin to patter against the glass.

SIENNA (V.O.)
(CALM BUT RESOLUTE)
Akira’s plans won’t succeed—not while I’m here.

She turns sharply and strides toward a sleek black phone on the marble countertop, picking it up without hesitation.

SIENNA
(INTO PHONE)
This is Dr. Sienna Drake. I’m requesting immediate extraction from Luna Island—effective immediately.

A beat of silence follows before a crisp voice responds on the other end.

VOICE (O.S.)
Understood, Doctor. We’ll arrange transport within twenty-four hours.

Suddenly—the room plunges into darkness with a sharp POP of electricity cutting out completely.

The lights flicker back on moments later—but now only dim emergency lighting remains.

SIENNA
(EYES NARROWING IN SUSPICION)
What now?

40

Before she can react further—her villa door bursts open with force, revealing Akira standing there , his expression cold and unyielding .

AKIRA

(LOW , COMMANDING)

Ending this conversation right now . You belong to me—and no one else .

His gaze shifts briefly to her wrist where her contract bracelet glows faintly under emergency light.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(SMIRKING CRUELLY)

That device doesn’t just bind you legally—it protects my interests physically too .

Without warning —he steps forward and yanks hard at her wrist .

The contract bracelet snaps off cleanly , sending both of them stumbling backward as it clatters heavily onto floor .

Sienna catches herself first —glaring fiercely at Akira while quickly retreating toward corner sofa behind her for cover .

Her fingers brush instinctively against another hidden object beneath cushions—a small remote control device.

41

SIENNA

(SHOUTING DEFIANTLY)

You think breaking that changes anything?

She presses buttons rapidly—the remote emitting soft electronic beeps before activating something unseen.

Suddenly—a low rumble shakes through walls followed by distant crashing sounds outside nearby windows .

AKIRA

What did you do?

His eyes widen slightly in alarm as he realizes what’s coming next…

EXT. ISLAND - VARIOUS LOCATIONS – CONTINUOUS

The ground trembles violently, sending waves of panic through the resort.

GUESTS and STAFF stumble, clutching at tables and walls as pictures fall from frames and glassware shatters on the floor.

A massive CRASH echoes through the area—the ancient seal protecting the island’s core has been broken!

INT. AKIRA’S VILLA – SAME TIME

Akira rushes to a large window overlooking his villa’s garden. The earth quakes beneath him, trees sway wildly as debris rains down from above.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(EYES WIDENING IN HORROR)

NO… THIS CAN’T BE HAPPENING…

His face drains of color—his grip tightens around the balcony rail as he struggles to stay upright.

AKIRA (CONT'D)

(SHOUTING IN DISBELIEF)

The ancient stone... it was supposed to remain sealed forever!

SIENNA stands beside him, smirking coldly yet exhaustedly after having triggered something far beyond her control.

SIENNA

(CALM BUT FIRM)

It never should have been controlled by anyone like you or me. It belongs back where it came from—with nature itself.

Suddenly—a deafening roar pierces the air outside both villas simultaneously.

They spin toward each other in shock before rushing out together—

EXT. RESORT GROUNDS – MOMENTS LATER

Both Akira and Sienna stand side-by-side facing outward toward two separate directions—their gazes locked onto two colossal shadows emerging slowly from opposite ends of the island: one moves leftward; one rightward—toward them with terrifying purpose.

Their eyes widen further in disbelief:

These are not just creatures—they are titans awakened by their recklessness...

Both turn sharply toward each other again—

BEFORE EITHER CAN SPEAK—

THE GROUND SHIFTS VIOLENTLY AGAIN! A MASSIVE EARTHQUAKE ROCKS THE ENTIRE ISLAND!

Trees snap instantly like twigs; rocks tumble downward with thunderous force; buildings groan under stress—the entire landscape seems ready to collapse into chaos at any second now…

Akira instinctively grabs Sienna's arm tightly, pulling her close for support amidst another violent shake—but neither breaks eye contact with those monstrous figures advancing relentlessly behind them...

No. We face them together.

The ground trembles beneath their feet as they brace against each other.

Suddenly—a massive shadow looms overhead. A titan lets out a bone-chilling roar and slams forward with earth-shattering force.

Sienna and Akira stagger but hold their ground, faces pale yet resolute.

From behind them—Derek bursts through the collapsing foliage, breathless and wide-eyed.

DEREK

(SHOUTING)
Run! Both of you—NOW!

Before they can react—the second titan crashes from the opposite side. Their movements synchronized in terrifying harmony—they close in fast toward the center where Sienna and Akira stand frozen by shock.

THE ISLAND SHAKES VIOLENTLY AGAIN—

AND THEN—

A deafening crack splits the air as both titans collide directly at center stage…

They’re retreating... But this quake—it’s not over yet. We need to get off this island!

AKIRA

(NODDING FIRMLY)
Right. Follow me—I know a safe path through the forest that leads up to the cliffs.

Without hesitation, he pulls her along toward the dense tree line at high speed.

Suddenly—A deaf rumble shakes the ground beneath their feet. The earth splits open directly behind them with a thunderous roar of destruction.

Both spin around instinctively—their faces draining of color in horror—

As two massive crevices tear apart from center stage and split outward in opposite directions:

One cuts sharply left toward Sienna and Akira’s original position; the other slashes right toward where Derek had been standing moments ago—

AKIRA

(GRITTING HIS TEETH)
Keep moving! We can’t let them catch us!

Sienna stumbles over a root but catches herself, breath ragged. Her eyes dart nervously to the widening craters behind them.

SIENNA

(PANICKED)
They’re collapsing faster than we can run... What if we don’t make it?

Akira reaches out instinctively and grabs her wrist firmly, yanking her into a narrow side path barely visible through the underbrush.

AKIRA

49

(LOW VOICE, URGENT)
This way! The trail is hidden—it leads to higher ground near the summit. It’s our only chance!

Sienna hesitates for just a split second before following him without question.

Suddenly—cracks thunder from above. A massive tree trunk snaps loose and crashes down directly ahead of them with earth-shattering force.

Both freeze in terror as dust explodes around their feet—the path blocked by heavy debris.

SIENNA (V.O.)
We’re trapped...

Akira spins on his heel, scanning frantically for another escape route—but all he sees are walls of dense forest closing in like a cage.

His jaw tightens. He pulls Sienna close and speaks lowly into her ear—

AKIRA

(FIRM RESOLVE)
There’s one more option—a secret exit I discovered during training drills years ago…

He presses something small and smooth into her palm—a metallic keycard gleaming faintly even through dirt smudges.

AKIRA (CONT'D)
This will open an emergency hatch beneath that old watchtower near here—it leads straight off this island…

50

A faint sound echoes from deep within the woods—low rumbling mixed with distant roars—and then everything falls deathly silent again.
Akira stiffens instantly, eyes snapping wide as he listens intently to every shifting sound around him.
Then he turns abruptly toward Sienna—with urgency burning fierce across his face—

AKIRA (CONT'D)
Go now! Take this card and head straight there—I’ll cover you!
Before she can protest or hesitate—they both spin away from each other simultaneously.
Sienna breaks left while Akira bolts right—their footsteps splitting apart amid crashing leaves…

EXT. ISLAND FOREST - NIGHT

Sienna dashes through the dense forest, heart pounding as she clutches the keycard tightly against her chest. The shadows shift around her with every step.

SIENNA (V.O.)
One more secret exit? Why didn’t he tell me sooner?

A sudden rustle to her right—she spins sharply, breath catching.

But it’s only a small animal scurrying away into the darkness.

She exhales in relief and keeps running.

Suddenly—a sharp CRACK rings out behind her. She whirls again, eyes wide—

DEREK GAO steps from the shadows, his expression cold and unreadable. Without hesitation, he lunges forward and grabs Sienna by both shoulders.

DEREK

(LOW VOICE)
Stop running! We need to talk!

Sienna jerks back instinctively but Derek holds firm, forcing himself closer until their faces are inches apart—the dim moonlight casting harsh lines across his sharp features.

SIENNA

(VOICE TREMBLING)
What do you want?!

Derek studies her for a long beat before leaning in even closer—his hand sliding up slowly to cup her chin gently but possessively.

His dark gaze flickers down to her lips—and then back up with an unsettling smile curling at one corner of his mouth—

DEREK

(SLOWLY)

I DON’T LIKE SHARING YOU…

52

Without warning—he closes the distance completely and presses his lips hard against hers in an aggressive kiss.

Sienna freezes at first—but then instantly pushes him away with all her strength, stumbling backward over fallen leaves and twisting roots until she hits the ground hard with a sharp cry of pain.

Her eyes snap open wide as she stares up at him—
And suddenly everything clicks.
Her fingers dig into dirt beneath them as realization dawns.
She scrambles upright without hesitation—and sprints off deeper into shadowed woods without looking back once.
CUT TO: Close-up — The keycard slips from between Sienna’s fingers during the fall…
It lands softly on a bed of moss just where it can be seen clearly—from above.

EP 25

The Leviathan’s massive claw closes in slowly, shadow swallowing the keycard.

Suddenly—a sharp crack rings out.

The creature freezes mid-motion. Its eyes snap upward—panicked.

53

From behind a thick tree trunk, Akira steps forward, rifle raised steady and aimed directly at the beast’s head.

AKIRA

(CALM BUT DEADLY)

Stay where you are!

Leviathan lets out a low growl—then abruptly halts its descent. It snarls back fiercely before retreating into the shadows above with a final ominous glare.

Akira exhales sharply and rushes toward the mossy ground beneath him. He kneels down to pick up something shimmering faintly in the moonlight—the keycard clutched tightly between his fingers.

He glances around warily—but sees no sign of danger remaining below. Satisfied, he turns—and suddenly collides hard with someone rushing straight at him from behind.

Startled, they both stagger backward—

Sienna crashes into his arms without warning. Her breath is ragged; her eyes wide and wild as she clings to him instinctively for support against her own trembling body.

SIENNA

(PANICKED)

AKIRA… I DROPPED IT…

She pulls back just enough to meet his gaze—their faces inches apart under soft starlight filtering through leaves above them.

54

Before he can respond or even catch his breath—

DEREK (O.S.)
(VOICE LACED WITH VENOM)
You’re not going anywhere!

Both of them turn sharply toward the sound—

Derek emerges from deeper within the woods ahead—his silhouette framed by flickering shadows cast from distant lightning strikes.

His expression is dark as thunder—and every step he takes drips pure possessiveness mixed with rage.

WITHOUT HESITATING AGAIN—

Sienna pushes off Akira firmly and bolts past him like a shot,

Her feet pounding hard against tangled roots as she disappears deeper into darkness without looking back once more.
CUT TO: Derek stops dead in place when Sienna runs past him—
His eyes burn red-hot.

HE SNAPS HIS FINGERS SHARPLY—and two large guards emerge instantly from either side of him like wolves closing in.
They move fast.
Their hands clamp onto Sienna’s upper arms almost simultaneously—with brutal strength that twists her small frame coldly between their grips.
She cries out sharply but struggles desperately—

55

Only managing to slow herself down—not break free completely.
Her terrified glance darts frantically left then right—but finds no escape route visible anywhere.

GUARD A

(GRUFF VOICE)
Don’t make this harder than it needs to be!

GUARD B

(FIRM TONE)
Come quietly—or we’ll drag your ass off this island ourselves!

Sienna jerks violently at their hold—and finally manages one last desperate shove that sends both men stumbling backward over fallen branches and loose dirt.

With nothing left holding her back anymore—she breaks free completely,
And sprints away faster than ever before,
Disappearing entirely into blackness.

INT. ABANDONED MINE SHAFT – NIGHT

Sienna lands hard on a pile of old rubble. Pain shoots through her body as she groans softly, eyes adjusting to the dim light filtering from above.

She looks up—the opening is just out of reach.

Her fingers scrape at loose stones; desperation fuels every movement—but nothing budges.

SIENNA

(WHISPERING)

NO… NO… THIS CAN’T BE HAPPENING…

From above, faint footsteps approach slowly. Panic flares in Sienna’s eyes as she scrambles backward—only to find herself trapped against cold rock walls with nowhere left to run.

The mine shaft entrance creaks open—the two guards appear silhouetted against moonlight before descending carefully down the slope toward her position.

GUARD A

(LOW GROWL)

FOUND YOU…

57

Sienna’s gaze flickers between them—a spark of defiance lighting within that terror can’t extinguish.

SIENNA (V.O.)
If I don’t get out now—I’ll never see daylight again...

She presses back against the wall instinctively—and then suddenly pivots hard, catching both men off guard by knocking them over each other in a tangled heap below.

THROWING HERSELF UPWARD—

They curse loudly—and scramble clumsily for balance—eyes locking onto hers like hawks about to strike again.

Akira crashes onto cold stone with a heavy thud. Pain radiates from his side, but he forces himself upright, coughing softly as dust clings to his hair and clothes.

AKIRA

(GRIMACING)

Damn it...

Silence surrounds him. He stands shakily and begins walking deeper into the mine’s shadows—alone and vulnerable.

Suddenly—a faint glow flickers ahead in the darkness. Akira freezes for a moment before hurrying toward it until he reaches a small chamber at the shaft’s end: Inside lies Sienna, curled up on an old cot covered with tattered blankets—the only light comes from her phone screen as she scrolls aimlessly through news articles about NovaCure Pharmaceuticals’ new project: Project Leviathan —a mysterious deep-sea bioweapon research initiative by NOVACURE Corp., led by none other than Dr.Lance Sterling (CEO of Novacure Group).

Her eyes widen in disbelief upon reaching this part of the article:

“Lance Sterling is using this opportunity not only for business expansion but also as cover for personal vendettas against those who wronged him years ago—including former colleagues like Victor Blackwell.”

SIENNA (V.O.)
So... my father knew Lance? And this whole thing was revenge all along...

61

She closes her phone slowly as realization sinks in—but then hears footsteps outside approaching again—the door creaks open slightly—her breath catches instinctively before she quickly hides behind some crates nearby without making any sound or movement whatsoever…

Two figures enter: one clearly Victor BLACKWELL , senior executive at NOVACURE HQ ; another is JAMES WILSON , CEO OF

NOVACURE’S ISLAND RESORT OPERATIONS subsidiary . Both men glance around cautiously—they spot nothing unusual initially—but James notices something odd near corner…

JAMES

(FROWNING SUSPICIOUSLY)

What’s that over there?

Victor raises an eyebrow curiously before stepping closer—and suddenly—

Sienna lets out a sharp gasp involuntarily because they nearly stumbled right into her hiding place!

JAMES

(FROWNING, SUSPICIOUS)
Yeah. This part of the island is off-limits. You shouldn’t be wandering around alone.

Sienna stiffens at their words but forces herself to remain composed.

SIENNA

(COLDLY)
I’m not here by choice. I’m hiding—from people like you.

James narrows his eyes, stepping closer with a predatory smile.

JAMES

(AMUSED)
Oh? And who exactly would that be?

Victor’s gaze flickers uneasily between Sienna and the door behind them—his instincts screaming danger—but he forces calm professionalism in front of her.

VICTOR

(SMOOTHLY)
Look... there’s no need for this to get messy. Just come with us back to headquarters—we can explain everything properly...

63

Before Victor finishes speaking, a sudden roar echoes through the mine shaft—the ground trembles violently beneath their feet—and both men freeze in terror as debris rains down around them!

The three of them stumble backward instinctively—heart pounding wildly—as another deafening quake shakes the entire chamber!

JAMES & VICTOR (SIMULTANEOUSLY)
Shit! The damn thing's back!

They spin toward each other urgently—

VICTOR

(GRIM DETERMINATION)
We have to move now! If Leviathan finds out we’re here... it’ll tear this place apart just like before!

Without hesitation—they grab Sienna roughly by her arms and drag her toward the exit while yelling orders over their shoulders—

JAMES

Before Akira can react, James and Victor grip Sienna tightly—pulling her back toward the entrance of the mine.

Sienna struggles violently, eyes blazing with fury.

SIENNA

(SCREAMING)

Let go of me! You’ll never win!

Her voice echoes through the tunnels—but no one moves to save her. Instead—

James steps forward, his expression twisted with cruelty.

JAMES

(LOW SNEER)

You think you’re some kind of hero? You’re just a freak who got lucky once. Now it’s time you pay for your little act!

He raises his arm sharply—ready to strike—

A steel trap slams shut over James’ wrist with brutal force. He howls in pain and collapses instantly—his body twisting awkwardly as he tries to free himself.

JAMES (CONT'D)

(SHOUTING FRANTICALLY)
What the hell?! Who did this?!

EMILY

(COLDLY)

You should’ve known better than to cross us.

She flicks a switch on her phone. The lights dim, and a spotlight snaps on behind them. A sleek black car idles just outside the mine entrance, its engine humming quietly.

MARCUS walks around slowly to stand beside Emily. His presence is commanding—the very air seems to shift under his influence.

MARCUS

(LOW, DANGEROUS)

This… was supposed to be your final performance. But it looks like you’re still eager for an encore.

James’ eyes widen as he finally registers who’s standing before him—and then collapses entirely into terror.

JAMES

(HORRIFIED WHISPER)

OH GOD… IT’S REALLY THEM…

Sienna’s expression hardens as she watches their reactions—her gaze shifting between Emily and Marcus with sharp suspicion.

SIENNA (V.O.)
They’re not just here for me… They came because of those two idiots? What does that even mean?

68

Suddenly—a loud SNAP echoes through the chamber—

The steel trap releases abruptly. James stumbles backward but remains kneeling on the ground, clutching his wrist tightly as blood drips onto the dirt floor behind him.

Victor immediately rushes forward and grabs James by both shoulders—not out of concern—but to steady himself while he spits venomous words at Sienna instead:

She looks like she’s been through hell. I almost feel sorry for you—if only you weren’t such a disgrace to our family name.

Sienna stiffens at their words but quickly masks her shock with icy composure.

SIENNA

(CALM BUT DEADLY)

You’re here because of me? Fine. But don’t drag innocent people into your twisted games. This island belongs to none of us—it’s not your playground for power grabs or vendettas!

JAMES

(PLEADING HOARSELY)

Miss Drake… please… they’re dangerous! You have to trust me—they want something from you!

Sienna yanks her arm free without hesitation and glares at him sharply.

SIENNA

(FIRMLY)

James, shut up! Your loyalty means nothing anymore—and I won’t let your stupidity endanger everyone here!

70

James falls silent instantly—his expression darkening as he slumps back onto the ground in defeat.

EMILY steps closer again—the air between them thickening with tension. She reaches out suddenly and grips Sienna by the shoulders tightly enough to make her flinch slightly—but there's no warmth in the touch:

EMILY

(LOW, VENOMOUS SMILE)

I'm not here for petty revenge or some childish grudge—I need something only you can give me: control over NovaCure Pharmaceuticals' offshore assets on this island…

Marcus moves smoothly behind Emily—a shadowy presence closing in on Sienna from both sides. His hand lands on her shoulder lightly—a calculated move designed to intimidate rather than comfort—and when their eyes meet in the dim light of the mine shaft…

Something shifts inside Sienna—a flicker of old memories too painful to swallow whole but impossible to ignore completely...

FLASHBACK TO EPISODE 5 (brief montage):

- A younger Emily laughing softly as she holds baby-Sierra's hand.
- The sound of a gunshot ringing out.
- Blood splattering across polished marble floors.
- An infant crying alone under bright hospital lights...

The memory crashes down like lightning — leaving everything around it trembling...

Siennna blinks rapidly—as if waking from a nightmare—and instinctively takes a step back...right into Derek's waiting arms.

Derek’s grip tightens around Sienna, his gaze sharp and unyielding.

DEREK

(VOICE LIKE STEEL)
I warned you. You know what happens if you cross the line.

Sienna exhales slowly, her eyes locking onto his with quiet resolve.

SIENNA

(CALM, UNWAVERING)
You don’t have to do this, Derek. I’m not your enemy.

Her words hang in the air—soft but charged with something deeper. For a moment, even Emily seems caught off guard by the sudden shift in tension.

EMILY (V.O.)

72

(FROWNING)
What is she playing at?

Before anyone can react further—an explosion rocks the mine shaft nearby. Dust and debris rain down as distant screams echo through the darkness.

MARCUS

(SHOUTING OVER THE CHAOS)
The exit’s collapsed! We’re trapped!

Panic ripples through their group as voices rise in fear and confusion. Sienna immediately steps forward, her instincts kicking into gear despite everything else swirling around her mind.

SIENNA

(COMMANDING TONE)
Everyone stay calm—follow me! There’s another way out!

Without hesitation, she turns sharply toward an unlit side tunnel—a path only someone familiar with this place would know exists. Derek catches up instantly beside her; Emily hesitates for just a second before reluctantly falling into step behind them while Marcus hangs back watchfully...

As they move deeper into shadowed corridors—the sound of collapsing rock grows louder behind them—and then silence.

INT. MINE SHAFT – DEEPER TUNNEL - CONTINUOUS

The group moves quickly, their footsteps echoing in the narrow passage. Dust clings to the air as shadows flicker against jagged walls.

EMILY

(PANICKED)
Sienna, are you sure this leads out? It feels like we’re going deeper in!

SIENNA

(FIRMLY)
Trust me—there’s an old ventilation shaft here that connects to the surface. We’ll climb up and get out.

MARCUS

(SKEPTICAL)
Sounds like a fairy tale...

Before he can finish, another tremor shakes the tunnel. Loose rocks scatter at their feet.

DEREK

(URGENT)
No time for doubts! Keep moving!

They break into a run, adrenaline pushing them forward.

Suddenly—the path narrows sharply. Sienna halts abruptly and slams her hand against rough stone.

SIENNA

(POINTING UPWARD)
Here! This is it!

74

Everyone looks up—a small opening high above them, just big enough to escape through.

MARCUS

(GRIMACING)
We need something sturdy to climb... I don’t see any ladders or ropes here.

Emily glances around nervously — then spots several thick vines hanging from the ceiling of the tunnel behind Sienna’s back.

EMILY (V.O.) * (hopeful)* Those could work... but they’d have to be strong enough.*

SHE CALLS OUT EXCITEDLY:

EMILY
There! Vines! They look solid—if we tie them together—

Before she finishes her sentence, a deafening crash reverberates through the mine shaft as more rock falls from above.

The ground beneath them shifts violently—they stumble backward toward danger—and suddenly everything goes dark again.

Sienna grabs Emily’s arm, steadying her.

SIENNA

(FIRMLY)
We don’t have time for hesitation. Marcus, grab whatever you can use to climb—now!

Marcus nods grimly, scanning their surroundings frantically. He spots a sturdy wooden plank leaning against the wall nearby.

MARCUS

(POINTING)
Here! That plank looks solid enough—we can wedge it between the walls and climb up!

Suddenly—a sharp CRACK echoes through the tunnel. The ceiling trembles again.

DEREK (O.S.) * (urgent)* Sienna! Emily!

They turn just in time to see Derek barreling toward them, his face pale but determined.

DEREK

(SHOUTING)
Don’t move! It’s not safe yet—the whole shaft could collapse at any moment!

Sienna freezes for a split second before shaking her head fiercely.

SIENNA

(STEELY RESOLVE)

76

No more waiting around. If we stay here, we’re dead—I’m not letting that happen on my watch.

Emily steps forward hesitantly, glancing nervously at Derek before turning back to Sienna with uncertainty in her eyes.

EMILY

(TENTATIVE)
What if he’s right? What if this place really is about to cave in?

(GRIM SMILE)
Let’s pray this old timber doesn’t betray us.

77

Without another word, Sienna leads the way up. She moves with practiced speed, each step deliberate as she ascends higher into the darkness above.

Derek watches her climb for a moment before stepping forward hurriedly—

DEREK

(FIRM COMMAND)

Wait!

He places his hand on Sienna’s ankle to stop her mid-step. Their eyes lock—his filled with urgent concern, hers burning stubborn defiance.

SIENNA

(TENSED JAW)

What is it?

Before Derek can answer—the tunnel shakes violently again. A deafening CRASH erupts behind them as rocks collapse in a wave of destruction that cuts off their escape route completely.

SIENNA

(FLATLY)
We’re trapped. Now what?

Derek’s expression darkens instantly. He pulls out his radio and speaks into it with clipped urgency.

DEREK

(COMMANDING)
Emergency protocol Alpha-3! Repeat: Alpha-3!

The tunnel shakes again—more violently than before. Dust rains down from above as a low rumble echoes through the confined space.

JESSICA (O.S.)

(TERRIFIED SCREAM)
Earthquake?! We’re going to die here!

Emily stumbles forward and grabs Sienna’s arm desperately.

EMILY

(SOBBING)
Sienna! You have to save us—I can’t lose you too!

Sienna forces herself to remain steady despite the growing tremors beneath them. Her gaze shifts upward toward a faint light source far above—the only sign of hope left in this collapsing tomb.

SIENNA

(HOARSE WHISPER)
Everyone… where is everyone?

Her gaze lands on Emily and Jessica lying unconscious nearby. She rushes to shake Emily awake.

SIENNA (CONT'D)
Emily! Wake up!

EMILY stirs, groaning weakly as confusion clouds her face.

EMILY

(DAZED)

80

What happened? Where are we?

Sienna swallows hard, forcing calm into her voice despite the pounding in her chest.

SIENNA
We’re trapped… The tunnel collapsed behind us. We need to find another way out—now!

Jessica suddenly bolts upright, eyes wide with panic as she scrambles away from the group toward a narrow gap between rocks at the far end of the cave-like space.

JESSICA
(SHOUTING HYSTERICALLY)
I know there’s an exit here—I’ve been down this path before! I’ll go find it!

Before Sienna can react, Jessica darts through the tight opening without hesitation. Dust billows around her retreating figure as she disappears into darkness beyond sight.

Sienna freezes for a split second before snapping back to reality and grabbing Emily’s arm tightly once more.

Just keep moving forward.

Their footsteps echo in the confined space. Suddenly, a sharp crack splits the silence. The ground shakes violently again.

JESSICA (O.S.)

(SCREAMING)
No—!

A chunk of debris falls from above, blocking their path completely.

SIENNA

(SHOUTING)
Jessica?!

Silence answers her plea. Sienna slams her fist against the rubble in frustration and fear.

They turn and sprint blindly back toward where they came from—but it’s too late. A tidal wave slams into them with crushing force—and everything goes black.

EPISODE 43

INT. CAVE - DARKNESS

The tidal wave crashes over Sienna and Emily, engulfing them in a roaring flood. Water pounds against their bodies as they struggle to stay afloat.

SIENNA (V.O.)
I can't hold on much longer... where is the exit?!

Suddenly, the water shifts direction—a current pulling them downward. Both women gasp for air as they're dragged deeper into the cave.

EMILY

(PANICKED)
Sienna! We're going under—hold your breath!

88

They dive beneath the surface, lungs burning, eyes straining in darkness.

A faint glimmer of light appears below them—a narrow opening at the bottom of a submerged shaft.

SIENNA (V.O.)
That has to be another exit... I have to reach it!

She kicks hard toward it, dragging Emily along. The light grows brighter with every stroke—but so does their exhaustion.

Just as their hands brush against solid ground—their fingers trembling from cold and fatigue—

The tunnel shakes again. A deafening crack splits through the cave walls.

Emily lets out a terrified scream—and suddenly everything collapses around them once more.

SIENNA

(URGENT)
Emily! Stay with me!

EMILY

89

(BREATHLESS)
I'm here... I’m right next to you...

Their fingers brush against each other, trembling from cold and shock.

Then—a sudden shift. The ground trembles beneath them once more. A massive section of the cave wall crumbles open behind them, revealing a new passageway flooded with soft golden light.

Sienna’s eyes widen in disbelief as she hears the sound of rushing water cutting off abruptly.

SIENNA (V.O.)
WE MADE IT… WE ACTUALLY MADE IT…

She pulls Emily toward the opening—their hands locking tightly together as they stumble into the light at last. Their bodies collapse onto solid ground just outside the cave entrance—the sun warming their drenched skin instantly.

EMILY & SIENNA (SIMULTANEOUSLY)
We’re alive...

They lie there for a moment—breathing heavily, hearts pounding in unison—as relief washes over them completely.

SUDDENLY—

The sound of footsteps echoes through the woods nearby. Both women sit up simultaneously, turning toward the noise—and freezing when they see who emerges from between the trees: Derek Gao, his expression unreadable as he approaches

DEREK

(FLAT, SCANNING THEM)
You two... what the hell happened?

Sienna and Emily exchange a quick glance before Sienna forces herself to sit up straighter, brushing off her soaked clothes.

SIENNA
We got caught in a sinkhole. The cave collapsed behind us. We barely made it out.

EMILY

(NODDING WEAKLY)
Yeah… we thought we'd never get out of there...

Derek's eyes flicker with concern for just a moment—then he steps closer, his tone sharp and authoritative.

DEREK
Why didn’t you call for backup? Or at least alert security when you realized the cave was unstable?

Sienna stiffens under his gaze, biting back frustration.

SIENNA (V.O.)
Of course Derek would question our professionalism first instead of checking if we're okay…

91

She exhales slowly, then meets his eyes calmly.

SIENNA
Because I’m not reckless enough to put an entire team into collapsing tunnels without proper intel. And because I had no reason to think anyone else was trapped inside besides me and Emily.

Emily glances nervously between them but stays silent. Derek narrows his eyes slightly before turning toward the island’s interior path leading away from the forest line where they came from.

DEREK (COMMANDING)
Fine. Follow me—there’s something you need to see immediately at headquarters about this island’s opening ceremony tomorrow morning!

Without waiting for confirmation, he strides purposefully down the path—and after one last look toward him—

SIENNA & EMILY (SIMULTANEOUSLY)
Let’s go...

They pick themselves up together and follow closely behind as they disappear deeper into the island's shadowy woods.

SUDDENLY—

The sound of heavy footsteps crashes through nearby trees again—a loud THUD echoing around them as another figure bursts into view: Lucas Scott , wild-eyed and breathless.

SIENNA
Lucas? What are you doing here?

EMILY
How did you even find us?

LUCAS (breathless, scanning their faces)
I knew something was off when I couldn’t reach either of you.
Then—thankfully—someone saw the cave collapse and reported it.

Sienna’s eyes flicker with suspicion.

SIENNA
Who reported it?

Emily shifts uncomfortably, avoiding eye contact.

EMILY
The island’s security chief. He said he’d handle the rescue personally...

At that moment—a sharp rustle cuts through the trees behind them. The group instinctively spins around as Derek Gao emerges from the shadows, his expression unreadable but tense.

DEREK (COLDLY)
So you've finally met Lucas Scott... Interesting.

LUCAS (TENSE, STEPPING FORWARD)
Director Gao. You’re back early—

Derek cuts him off with a dismissive wave before turning his gaze to Sienna and Emily.

DEREK (STERN)
Drake…Thompson… I’ve been looking for you two everywhere since this morning's incident at Mermaid Cove!

He steps closer, voice dropping into an icy whisper that sends a chill down their spines.

DEREK (CONTINUED)
You both deliberately ignored my orders during a critical operation—and put lives at risk! Do you realize what kind of chaos you've caused?!

Emily swallows hard while Sienna crosses her arms defiantly against his accusation.

SIENNA
We followed protocol every step of the way. If someone wanted to help trapped people inside collapsing tunnels—they wouldn’t have hesitated for one second…

Her words hang in the air like a challenge—but before she can finish—

A sudden loud CRASH erupts nearby—the ground trembling beneath their feet as debris rains down from above. Everyone freezes mid-sentence—their gazes snapping toward another direction where more figures burst out from deeper within the forest path: several island staff members in disarrayed uniforms rush forward frantically—shouting incoherently over each other as they close in on them all.

94

STAFF MEMBER A

(PANICKED)
Sir! Something’s happened near headquarters!

STAFF MEMBER B

(BREATHLESS)
There was an explosion! And then...something else appeared!

Their terrified murmurs trail off abruptly—as all eyes collectively shift toward where they came from—with growing dread etched across every face.

EMILY

95

It’s... a sea monster!

Sienna immediately grabs Emily’s arm, steadying her gaze on the creature.

SIENNA
Stay close to me. Don’t move until I say so.

Derek rushes forward, pulling out his handgun and aiming at the beast—but before he can fire—

A deafening roar shakes the air. The creature lunges violently toward them with terrifying speed.

STAFF MEMBER A
(SCREAMING)
Run! Run for your lives!

Chaos erupts—the staff scatter in all directions, screaming as they flee through the trees. Derek fires several shots into the dark shape of the monster—each round thudding uselessly against its thick hide.

DEREK (SHOUTING)
We need an evacuation plan now! Everyone head to safe zone Charlie-3 immediately!

He turns sharply toward Sienna and Lucas—his voice cold steel despite their shared panic.

DEREK (CONTINUED)
You two—escort those injured personnel from headquarters without delay! No exceptions!

Without waiting for response—they sprint off into opposite directions of the forest path—with purpose clear in every step.

96

SIENNA

(EYES NARROWING)
Lucas—we stick together now. Let’s finish this nightmare once and for all.

This is too quiet... I don’t like this.

LUCAS

(GRIMLY SCANNING)
Me neither. Something’s off.

Suddenly, a low growl echoes through the trees. They freeze—heartbeats pounding in their ears.

97

From behind a cluster of bushes, TWO ASSAILANTS leap out, swift and silent. Before they can react—one slams into Lucas with brutal force.

Lucas crashes to the ground hard; his body twists awkwardly mid-fall before landing with a sickening thud against a tree trunk nearby. His face contorts in pain as he struggles to breathe—the impact knocking the air from his lungs.

SIENNA SCREAMS—

But it’s not for Lucas—it’s because another figure has appeared: Emily Kane stands calmly between them and Sienna, arms crossed tightly over her chest. Her expression is cold amusement as she steps closer toward Sienna.

EMILY (SOFTLY)
Well well… little sister-in-law… what an unpleasant surprise…

SIENNA (SHOCKED AND FURIOUS)
Emily?! What are you doing here? Why did you attack Lucas?!

VICTOR STONE

(AMUSED SNEER)
Oh, sweetheart… Fear and respect are two different things. And trust me—you’ll learn both very soon.

Emily steps forward smugly, crossing her arms as she revels in Sienna’s discomfort.

EMILY

(CASUAL CRUELTY)
Look at you—once the golden child of our family—and now reduced to nothing but an abandoned wife with no one to protect her. Pathetic.

Sienna remains composed, though a flicker of doubt crosses her mind at Emily’s words.

DEREK GAO (O.S.)

(VOICE SHARP AND COMMANDING)

Enough!

Everyone turns to see DEREK GAO storming toward them—with his usual icy demeanor fully intact. His gaze sweeps over the group before locking onto Victor Stone with unmistakable authority.

DEREK GAO

(LOW GROWL)

Victor Stone... You've crossed the line this time. This woman is under my protection now. So don't even think about laying a finger on her—or anyone else here today.

Victor smirks arrogantly—unfazed by Derek's warning—and takes a deliberate step closer toward Sienna.

(SMIRKING COLDLY)
Protection? From who? You? A powerless security director hiding behind his title?

He leans in slightly—his tone laced with condescension as he addresses Derek directly.

VICTOR STONE (CONT'D)
Let me remind you something: I am still your brother-in-law—the husband of your sister-in-law! And that means... I hold power over all of you here.
The words hit like ice water—but before anyone can react further—

The silence hangs heavy—no movement, no sound. Just the rustling of leaves in the wind.

SUDDENLY—

A sharp SNAP echoes through the forest.

Everyone whirls around again, hearts pounding—

But still, nothing emerges from the shadows.

Tension crackles in the air like electricity.

Then—without warning—a figure bursts out of nowhere and crashes into Victor Stone’s chest with a powerful shove.

It’s Emily Johnson.

102

Her face is pale but fierce—eyes blazing with desperation as she collapses against him, gasping for breath.

EMILY JOHNSON

(BREATHLESS)

Please... help me...

Victor catches her easily—and immediately wraps his arms possessively around her waist. His expression shifts instantly—from cold arrogance to smug satisfaction.

(SMIRKING DARKLY)

Well, well... look who finally decided to show up.

He turns his gaze slowly toward Derek Gao—with deliberate cruelty in every word.

Sienna Drake… I’m afraid your time has come. And now that my wife is here… there’s nothing left standing between us.

Derek stiffens at Victor's words—the tension radiating off him like heat—but before he can respond—

Emily suddenly pushes herself away from Victor and stumbles forward toward Sienna—instead of rushing to support her husband like everyone expected.

103

(VOICE TREMBLING)
No… this isn’t right—I didn’t come back for this!

She reaches out shakily and grabs Sienna’s arm tightly—her eyes filled with regret and urgency.

EMILY JOHNSON (CONT'D)

Her confession hits everyone hard—the room falls deathly silent again as shock ripples through the crowd.

SIENNA DRAKE

(COLD DISBELIEF)
You came back for me? After all these years?

Emily nods frantically—tears glistening on her lashes.

EMILY JOHNSON
Yes! Because you’re family—and because we both loved Lucas so much…

She swallows hard before continuing—her voice breaking slightly under pressure.

EMILY JOHNSON (CONT'D)
And also because… if it weren’t for me bringing that company project onto Blackstone Island—you might not have ended up here at all…
The weight behind those words sends a shudder through Sienna's core—for a moment, everything feels like it could collapse beneath her feet.

BUT THEN—

BEFORE ANYONE CAN REACT FURTHER—
A deep rumble shakes the ground beneath them.
The island trembles violently—as if something massive just shifted underground.
Dust kicks up from every corner—the trees sway wildly—and distant rocks begin tumbling down from above.

CHAOS ERUPTS INSTANTLY—
People scream and scatter in panic—but none dare move far amid such sudden disaster.

IN THAT TERRIFYING MOMENT,
Sienna instinctively lunges forward without hesitation—
Grabbing Emily firmly by both shoulders—to steady them both against nature's wrath.

SIENNA DRAKE

(FIRM RESOLVE)

We’ll face whatever happens next together. As sisters-in-law. As survivors

105

Their hands lock tightly together —a bond forged amidst chaos —their gazes locking fiercely into each other's eyes.

CUT TO BLACK

EPISODE 51

The earth continues to shake, groans of shifting stone echoing through the island’s core.

Sienna and Emily brace themselves against the tremors, their fingers tightening around each other instinctively.

SIENNA DRAKE

(VOICE STEADY, UNWAVERING)
Whatever comes next—we face it together. No more secrets. No more lies.

Emily swallows hard, nodding fiercely as tears streak down her cheeks.

EMILY JOHNSON

(CHOKED)
I… I’m sorry. I should’ve told you sooner… but Lucas—he made me afraid…

Sienna tilts her head slightly, studying Emily with sharp eyes that pierce right through her hesitation.

SIENNA DRAKE

(FLAT TONE)
Who is he really? And why does everyone keep saying “he’s not your brother anymore”?

BEFORE EMILY CAN ANSWER—

106

A thunderous crack splits the air above them—the cliffside fractures violently—and a massive boulder tumbles down straight toward them!

Both women freeze for a split second—then react instantly:

Emily screams and stumbles backward—

But Sienna moves faster—a blur of motion—as she lunges forward without hesitation—

Her arms wrap tightly around Emily’s waist in one sweeping motion—

They crash to the ground just as the boulder slams into where they’d been standing seconds before—with an earth-shattering impact that sends dust and debris flying everywhere.

Silence falls again—but this time it feels different. More final than before.

Then slowly—painfully—they both push off from each other and sit up on trembling legs—eyes locking in stunned relief at how close they came to death by inches.

For a moment —everything freezes in shock —before chaos erupts anew —

Another quake rips through Blackstone Island,

SHAKING EVERYTHING ONCE MORE

And sending another giant rock tumbling down from above

107

This time there isn’t enough space or time for escape —

THE TWO STONES COLLIDE MID-FALL —

Creating a deadly crossfire aimed directly at Sienna and Emily below

Their eyes widen in terror as realization hits:

THERE’S NO WAY OUT THIS TIME

NO COVER LEFT

Only one chance remains—to move fast enough…

Or be crushed beneath nature’s wrath forever

EPISODE 52

INT. BLACKSTONE ISLAND - ROCKY SLOPE – NIGHT

The camera pans across the jagged rocks, illuminated by flickering emergency lights.

Sienna and Emily’s eyes widen in terror as realization hits:

SIENNA (V.O.)
No way out... This is it.

EMILY
We’re done for!

108

They both instinctively turn to run—only to freeze at the sight of two massive boulders hurtling toward them from opposite directions.

Their bodies tense, every muscle screaming as they sprint downward—but the space between them narrows with each heartbeat.

Suddenly—a deafening CRASH. The two stones collide mid-air with a thunderous roar, sending shards of rock flying upward like deadly shrapnel.

EMILY SCREAMS—

A sharp fragment slices through her side. Blood blooms instantly across her blouse.

She stumbles, collapsing into Sienna’s arms with a choked sob.

EMILY (CONT'D)
I’M SORRY… I’M SO SORRY…

SIENNA (TEARFUL)
Don’t say that! We’ll get through this—I promise!

Before she can finish, another quake shakes the ground beneath them—their legs give out simultaneously—and they tumble forward down the slope together in a desperate roll of pain and fear...

EPISODE 53

INT. ABANDONED MINE SHAFT - NIGHT

109

The world turns dark.

Sienna’s eyes flutter open to a dim glow, revealing a narrow mine shaft lined with ancient wooden supports.

She blinks, disoriented—then her gaze lands on Emily lying beside her, blood staining the ground beneath them.

SIENNA (SHOCKED)
Emily… you’re alive!

EMILY (WEAKLY SMILING)
ME TOO…

SIENNA (PANICKING)
We need to get out of here! Can you stand?

Emily shakes her head slowly, pain flickering across her face.

EMILY
I… I don’t think so. My side hurts too much...

SIENNA (RESOLUTE)
Then I’ll carry you. Come on—

Before she can move, another tremor ripples through the earth—the old wood creaks ominously above them.

A massive boulder slams down from the ceiling with an earth-shattering CRASH—and blocks their only exit path coldly and completely.

Sienna freezes in horror as dust fills the air around them—

Her heart pounding painfully loud in her ears—

She glances at Emily helplessly and then looks upward toward the heavy stone blocking their escape route

Their expressions mirror each other: utter despair.
Suddenly—a faint light flickers somewhere deeper within the tunnel ahead—a soft golden glow cutting through shadows like hope itself.

SIENNA’S EYES WIDEN INSTINCTIVELY—

AND WITHOUT THINKING TWICE, she grabs Emily in a tight embrace.

WITH EVERY OUNCE OF STRENGTH LEFT, she hauls herself forward into that darkness—and they disappear into it together.

EPISODE 54

INT. ABANDONED MINE – DEEPER TUNNEL – NIGHT

The faint golden light ahead flickers softly, illuminating the rough walls as Sienna stumbles forward, every step a struggle.

Emily clings to her neck and shoulders tightly, panting heavily.

EMILY (WEAKLY)
Sienna... I can’t hold on much longer...

SIENNA (BREATHLESS)
Just a little further… I see light up ahead. We’ll make it—

Suddenly—the ground TREMBLES beneath them again.

111

BEFORE THEY CAN REACT—

Another boulder crashes down from above with deafening force—

Cutting off their escape completely.

Both women freeze in terror as dust swirls thickly around them—

Their eyes dart upward toward the heavy stone blocking their path out.

They exchange one final glance—pure despair reflected in both of them before turning instinctively toward each other for comfort

Sienna pulls Emily into an unbreakable embrace—

Their foreheads press together tightly as tears spill silently down their cheeks,

The trembling earth roars louder around them,

And then everything goes black.

EPISODE 55

INT. ABANDONED MINE - DEEPER IN THE DARKNESS – NIGHT

Torrential rain pounds the earth, thunder shaking the ground.

A distant rumble grows louder — a full-scale landslide is underway.

112

The mountain’s collapsing... We’re not going to make it out...

Emily clings weakly to Sienna, her grip slipping as exhaustion overwhelms her.

EMILY (V.O., FAINT)
SIENNA… I’M SO SORRY…

Before she can finish—her consciousness fades into darkness.

SIENNA (PANICKED)
Emily! Stay with me!

Sienna shakes Emily fiercely—no response. Her eyes burn red with silent fury and heartbreak.

SIENNA (V.O.)
I won’t let you die here… I’ll save you, no matter what—

Suddenly—a golden light appears ahead in the darkness. It flickers softly like a beacon through the shadows.

Sienna freezes for half a beat—then snaps back to reality. She grabs Emily tightly and starts running toward the light, desperate and unrelenting as the earth continues to shake around them—

INT. ABANDONED MINE - DEEPER IN THE DARKNESS – NIGHT

Sienna stumbles forward, every step agonizing against the relentless quake of the earth.

113

SIENNA (V.O.)
Just a little further... we'll be out...

Her vision blurs, breath ragged and shallow. Emily's weight grows heavier in her arms — Sienna's legs threaten to give at any moment.

Suddenly—her foot catches on an unseen root. She goes down hard, scraping her hands and knees.

EMILY (WEAKLY)
Sienna...?

SIENNA (BREATHLESS)
Emily! I'm so sorry...

The words hit like a dagger to her heart. Tears sting as she hastily presses a hand over Emily's mouth.

SIENNA (WHISPERING)
I won't let you die here—I swear it!

She struggles back up, dragging Emily behind her with renewed desperation toward the golden light ahead—

EPISODE 57

INT. ABANDONED MINE - DEEPER IN THE DARKNESS – NIGHT

The golden light grows brighter, but the ground shakes violently beneath them.

SIENNA (V.O.)
Almost there... just a little more...

Her body trembles from exhaustion, every breath a struggle. Suddenly—

114

A deafening crack splits the air.

Sienna’s eyes widen in horror as the tunnel ceiling above begins to collapse.

SIENNA (PANICKED)
No—!

She stumbles backward, clutching Emily tightly as rocks and dust rain down around them.

EMILY (WEAKLY)
Sienna...

Their bodies collide with the cold stone floor of the cave entrance just as everything behind them crumbles into darkness.

Emily groans softly, barely conscious in Sienna’s arms. Sienna gasps for air, chest heaving wildly—but relief floods her face when she realizes they’re safe—for now.

THEN—

A sudden sharp pain shoots through her leg. She looks down to see blood soaking through her pants, spreading across her skin like ink.

Her face drains of color instantly; panic grips her throat tight as she struggles to breathe again—this time from sheer terror instead of exertion.

SIENNA (HORRIFIED)
OH MY GOD… I’M GOING TO BLEED OUT…

115

Her voice breaks completely before falling silent—the weight of despair crushing any remaining hope inside her heart.

EPISODE 58

EP 58

Sienna’s body trembles violently, her eyes rolling back as she slips into unconsciousness.

SIENNA (V.O.)
I’m not dying here… I still have to save Emily…

Her fingers twitch weakly before going limp.

CUT TO:

EXT. ISLAND - MOUNTAIN PATH - DAY

Derek and Akira sprint up the steep trail, faces flushed with urgency.

AKIRA (BREATHLESS)
The storm caused a landslide! The mine shaft is completely blocked off!

DEREK (PANICKED)
Where are they now?!

Akira pulls out his phone and shows Derek the GPS location on the screen—just a few hundred meters away from them.

AKIRA
They’re right below us. But this path is nearly impassable in this weather—we need another way down!

DEREK (CLENCHING HIS FISTS)
Then we’ll find one. We don’t have time to waste—every second counts!

116

He turns sharply toward the dense forest beside them, determination blazing in his eyes.

DEREK (COMMANDING)
Move! Clear a route through these trees!

The security team immediately springs into action with axes and saws, hacking at branches as Derek leads Akira deeper into the woods without hesitation.

CUT TO:

INT. ABANDONED MINE ENTRANCE - CAVE OPENING - DAY

Emily slowly opens her eyes but winces sharply when she tries to move—her entire body aches from exhaustion.

EMILY (WEAKLY)
Sienna...?

She looks around frantically but sees only darkness behind her—the collapsed tunnel blocking any escape route.

EMILY (DESPERATE)
No… Sienna? Where are you?!

Emily struggles upright but collapses again almost immediately due to weakness. Frustration floods her face as she glances helplessly at Sienna’s motionless figure beside her.

EMILY (SOFTLY, TEARFUL)
This can’t be how it ends… We still have so much left unsaid…

SUDDENLY—

117

A faint rustling sound echoes through the cave entrance just beyond their sight line—a shadow moves against the dim light filtering inside from outside...

Emily freezes instantly, heart pounding wildly in terror and hope all at once.

EPISODE 59

Emily’s eyes widen as the shadow moves closer, and a soft voice calls out.

VOICE (O.S.)
Emily? Emily gasps and scrambles to her feet, stumbling toward the light at the cave entrance.

EMILY (TEARFUL)
Derek! Akira!

She throws herself into their arms. Derek immediately drops to check Sienna’s condition while Akira wraps Emily in a blanket from his coat.

AKIRA (SOFTLY)
You’re safe now. We’ll get you both out of here.

DEREK (GRIMLY)
We need to move—now!

He lifts Sienna into his arms without hesitation, carrying her with practiced strength. The three rush through the forest as sirens blare in the distance—the rescue team closing in on them.

SUDDENLY—

118

A deafening roar cuts through the stormy night air—a massive shadow looms over them from above, blocking what little moonlight remains.

They freeze instinctively—heartbeats pounding against ribs—as two glowing red eyes appear behind thick black scales...

The sea monster rears up once more, its monstrous form towering over them like an ancient god of destruction. Its jaws snap open wide with a deafening screech aimed straight for their heads—

BEFORE IT CAN STRIKE—

A blinding flash erupts beside them—the creature roars again before collapsing onto its side in agony. A powerful wave crashes ashore behind it, sending spray flying across their faces.

SUDDENLY

Sienna awakens with a sharp cry—her fingers gripping tightly around nothing but cold sand beneath her back…

Her breath catches painfully as she realizes she’s lying alone on an empty beach under dark skies…

No sign of anyone else… no sound except crashing waves and distant thunder… just endless darkness stretching toward horizon…

Tears well instantly—she sits up shakily—and screams aloud:

SIENNA (DESPERATE)
NO!!! DEREK! AKIRA! EMILY!!!

119

Her voice shatters into silence against roaring ocean winds—and only emptiness answers back...

EPISODE 60

Sienna’s scream dissolves into the night, swallowed by the relentless roar of the ocean. She clutches her chest, tears blurring her vision as she scans the desolate shore.

SIENNA (V.O.)
They can’t be gone… I know they’re not…

She stumbles forward, each step sinking deeper into wet sand, her voice breaking with desperation.

SIENNA
Derek! Akira! Emily!

But only silence answers. The waves crash harder now, their thunderous rhythm matching the storm raging inside her.

Suddenly—movement at the edge of her vision. A figure shifts in shadow near a cluster of rocks.

Sienna freezes—her heart lurches—and then she runs without thinking.

SIENNA (HOPEFUL)
I found you!

The figure turns—a man emerges from darkness. Relief floods through Sienna’s eyes as recognition dawns—but it vanishes instantly when his face comes fully into view.

120

It’s Victor Kane—Akira’s older brother and rival father in corporate warfare—the man who orchestrated every attack against them to seize control over land rights on Crescent Island…

Her entire body stiffens in shock and fear.

VICTOR (SMIRKING)
Well… well… if it isn’t my little stepsister-in-law finally coming out to play alone?

He steps closer under cold moonlight, eyes gleaming with cruel amusement as he slowly circles around her like a predator stalking prey.

VICTOR (LOW)
You’ve been such an inconvenience lately—for me... for my family...

His gaze flickers down toward Sienna's injured leg before resting again on hers—with deliberate slowness—

VICTOR (LEERING)
And now that you’re vulnerable? This island is mine at last…

BEFORE SHE CAN REACT—

Victor lunges forward and grabs Sienna by both shoulders tightly. Her breath hitches painfully—but his grip doesn’t loosen—it tightens instead,

Dragging her backward toward jagged black rocks looming behind them...

Her head snaps violently against stone—the world tilts—and everything goes dark.

121

Silence falls heavy over empty beach…

THEN—

A faint glimmer of light appears far off along horizon.

SLOWLY—

TWO SHADOWS EMERGE FROM DARKNESS…

ONE TALL AND BROAD-SHOULDERED…

ONE SMALL…AND FRAGILE…

Their forms grow clearer with each passing second—

UNTIL FINALLY—

THEY BECOME UNMISTAKABLE:

DEREK AND EMILY

Breath ragged but determined—they race across sand dunes toward where Sienna was last seen.

EMILY (PANICKED)

Sierra!

DEREK

Don’t worry—I’m here.

EMILY NODS TEARFULLY,

RELIEVED BEYOND WORDS,

AS DEREK CHARGES FORWARD,

Eyes blazing determination...
Toward whatever fate awaits them beyond that darkened shore...
